

Are You Ready for the QUAIL Hunt

The season opens Tuesday, October 15th—less than two weeks. How are your firearms? The chances are that the old shotgun needs cleaning, repairing and a general overhauling; look it over and if it needs attention, bring it at once, so as to give us plenty of time. The last few days before the opening of the season we are simply overwhelmed with work, and can not possibly help getting behind.

WANTED: To buy for cash, or exchange, good shotguns that are or can be put in good condition. No 10 ga. guns, or relics, are wanted. We will pay or allow the highest market price for good second hand guns. Watch the FRESH AMMUNITION being unloaded at our store during the next two weeks, direct from Selby and U. M. C. factories.

NEW REALTY FIRM

E. J. BENNITT & CO.

A Closer Cooperation of Well Known Gentlemen Hitherto Successful in the Same Line of Business.

The real estate agency of E. J. Bennitt is one of the oldest and best established in the city and has enjoyed an extensive business from the beginning. During the last year the business has grown to such an extent that with the promise of greater prosperity and added business in the future it has been deemed wise by Mr. Bennitt to reorganize it on broader lines and on October 1st this was done. Frank D. Lane and Jesse F. Kelly being taken into partnership and the agency name being changed to E. J. Bennitt & Co.

It is a fitting time to briefly review the history of the agency and make some mention of the gentlemen who have assumed a proprietary interest in it though they have for a long time been somewhat associated with Mr. Bennitt. Mr. Lane especially. Mr. Bennitt has been a leading Phoenix citizen for nearly a quarter of a century. For many years he was cashier of the Valley bank and a director of it and in the early nineties he became associated with J. F. Fleming and P. J. Cole in the founding of the Phoenix National bank, being its cashier for a time. Severing his connection with that bank in 1895 he opened the real estate agency which for the last twelve years he has conducted so successfully. He is well known all over the territory and has an enviable reputation in banking and business circles, not having entirely severed his banking connections even after ceasing to be a bank official.

Four years ago Frank D. Lane entered his employment, resigning his position as chief clerk in the auditor's office and deputy bank examiner of the territory, to do so. He was also one of the incorporators of the Phoenix Cycle Co., which later sold the business and still later bought it back. He is now president of that corporation which is enjoying a prosperous business. Last spring he was also elected treasurer of the Salt River Valley Water Users' association, than which there is no more honorable position of trust in the community as it is the official organization which stands between the government and the people in the local reclamation project, which is providing the means of salvation for the entire valley in an industrial way.

Mr. Kelly is no stranger in the community either for he has resided here a great many years and is well known, particularly in Mesa City where he has lived for several years past. Mr. Kelly was steward at the Arizona asylum for the insane under the superintendency of Dr. J. Miller and later under Dr. Ward. The confinement of that position proving inimical to his health he resigned and going to Mesa City he embarked in the real estate business with F. T. Pomeroy. The firm has continued in the enjoyment of a liberal patronage until it was dissolved to enable Mr. Kelly to associate himself with the new firm of E. J. Bennitt & Co.

There is probably no real estate agent better posted on south side lands than Mr. Kelly who has given that section his undivided attention during recent years. That he has been held in high esteem locally is also evidenced by the fact that he has been serving Mesa City as town clerk until his removal to Phoenix made his resignation necessary.

It is the purpose of Mr. Kelly to still look after the interests of his south side patrons and he believes he can do this even better by maintaining his offices in Phoenix than by staying in Mesa. He will meet more people here, more prospective investors and in that way can place more of them on south side lands thus helping to build up that community as well as increasing the business of the new firm. There are none more familiar with the valley in general than all three members of this firm, none who have had better business experience or in whom the community has more confidence both for business judgment and personal integrity. All have been prosperous and successful and with the conditions that now guarantee a greater prosperity for the entire community these men have every reason to hope for a wider influence and a greater success.

For the present there is no contemplated change of office quarters and the new firm continues in the offices that have been occupied for some years by Mr. Bennitt, in the Goodrich block on Center street.

BULGIN DETECTIVES

SUE FOR THEIR PAY
Evangelist Who Saves Souls With Aid of Sleuths Accepts Service of Papers With Great Dignity.

Dr. E. J. Bulgin has secured some free advertising in the Los Angeles Times, which will be read with interest here, where he conducted a series of meetings last winter. The Times says:

Dr. E. J. Bulgin, famous as the evangelist who saves souls with the aid of a force of detectives, has been sued by two of his sleuths.

Papers were served upon him yesterday as he was saying farewell to a number of friends at Arcade station, preparatory to leaving for Sacramento. The plaintiff is the detective firm of Blair & Blair, whose members assert that Bulgin owes them for unearthing about $95 worth of vice to be used for ammunition in his evangelistic campaign in Covina. The detectives claim to have performed all the rubber-soled-shoe work of Bulgin's various spiritual campaigns, beginning with the disastrous one at San Jacinto, where the evangelist first introduced his startling methods into Southern California.

When he began his work here, he called upon the Blair detective agency and had it send men into the San Jacinto district to become acquainted with the groggeries, "blind pigs" and houses of easy virtue supposed to exist there.

Accordingly, when his series of revivals opened, he electrified and shocked the staid inhabitants of the place by getting up in meeting and proclaiming that John Jones was running a blind pig in the back of his store, and that the morals of Mrs. Jemima Smith's boarding house wouldn't do. The town was almost thrown into nervous spasms, and merely existed from meeting to meeting.

The detective firm alleges, however, that Mr. Bulgin relied more on his intuition than on the reports of the detectives, and that in more than one case, when the detectives had reported a house to be moral and decent, Mr. Bulgin proclaimed it from the pulpit to be bad.

San Jacinto became so worked up over the continued exposures that a committee was formed to take over the village paper and have a regular spring housecleaning of vice and wickedness.

The result was a storm of libel suits. Mayor Tanner objected to being called a "bag of wind," to having it said that he winked at the law and that his supporters were afflicted with "Tanneritis." He got $200 damages.

In Azusa the evangelist started another campaign with the aid of Blair detectives. The firm alleges that the minister was accused of being connected with a sleuth who was hanging around town and that from the platform he denied having anything to do with him.

The agency avers that Bulgin again retained it to help bring the light of piety into Covina, where experiences were strenuous.

The revival sleuth got acquainted with the gamblers and with the "blind pig" men, but was found out and the gamblers ironically caused his arrest for violating the law. So Mr. Bulgin's light was somewhat clouded at Covina.

When the campaign was over, the Blues say that Mr. Bulgin told them to look to the church revival committee for payment, and the church committee told them that no employment of detectives had ever been authorized.

From somebody the detective firm wants $95. Hearing that Mr. Bulgin was about to leave for Sacramento to open another campaign, it filed suit and an officer rushed down to the station to serve the papers.

Mr. Bulgin was saying farewell to a young preacher, a very nervous and fidgety preacher. When the constable stepped up with the papers, the man talking to Mr. Bulgin said: "Oh, dear, dear; there must be some mistake." Mr. Bulgin said: "Very well, sir," with great dignity.

WILL ARRIVE SUNDAY—Word has been received from B. A. Fowler that he will be home next Sunday if all goes well and he here for the regular monthly meeting of the board of governors on Monday. Mrs. Fowler will not come for a week or so longer. Mr. Fowler, though resting in Los Angeles, has been putting in all his waking hours in a sort of divestment, that is very largely in the line of business. The rest part of it consists in being away from home, which is construed by the average person to be a vacation, whatever he is doing. Mr. Fowler writes that he has been looking up the work of the Associated Charities and making note of things that may be of service to himself and the local organization here the coming winter. It is remembered that the local organization is yet in somewhat of a formative state and only got down to work late last spring. It is still virtually breaking new ground. Another matter that has engaged his attention is a study of the tuberculosis sanitariums, a thing that is very pertinent in these parts. Still another thing that has claimed some of his attention is the juvenile court. He has been attending the sessions with great regularity and learning all he could concerning its operation. His interest in this is quite natural as the movement for the establishment of the juvenile court in Arizona was very largely developed through the instrumentality of Mr. and Mrs. Fowler.

WILL APPEAR IN CONCERT. — Mrs. A. G. Hulet will shortly appear in concert in Phoenix. All lovers of music in Phoenix have had the pleasure of listening to Mrs. Hulet whose voice has received the praises of those best calculated to judge of such matters. Herman Devries of the board of directors of the Chicago Musical College, and formerly first basso with the Maurice Grau Opera company, wrote of her: "Mrs. A. G. Hulet is the possessor of a beautiful voice, an excellent musician, sings with great talent, taste and understanding, and is very able to sing in recitals, church, concert, oratorios, and is fitted also to teach the art of singing."

THE PRAYER PERIOD AND MULAI'S PLAN'S

His Designs Against His Brother Interfered With For Forty Days.

Casa Blanca, Oct. 3.—Authentic reports from the interior of Morocco reveal the fact that Mulai Hafig's plan of operations is to divide the army into two divisions. The first is to march upon Rabat and capture his brother, Sultan Abdel Aziz and the latter's troops there, while the second division is to march on Fez and there proclaim Hafig sultan, as was done in Morocco City.

The first division reached Settat but the ninth month of the Mohammedan year, which is accompanied by forty days of prayer, begins October 5, which is expected to put a temporary end to Hafig's operations.

THE LITTLE BLACK BOOK

With Which Lumber Trust Tried to Break Up Mail Order Business.

Minneapolis, Oct. 3.—The federal grand jury today resumed the investigations of the "little black book" which is a catalogue of houses dealing in lumber and manufactured articles, and which is alleged to have been used by the lumber trust in its effort to ruin the mail order business. It is known that there was a secret meeting of the lumber dealers of Minneapolis last winter and later a similar meeting of about sixty lumbermen in Chicago. The book was published here after the Chicago meeting.

AN OUTLAW INDIAN—Mike Pinson, an Apache policeman stationed at McDowell, is not a good guardian of the peace. Some Indian came to the aid of a man who was being held by Pinson, and made a complaint of rape against him. The crime was committed last Monday near Scottsdale. The victim was Le-Hah-Nay, the wife of George Hay, a member of the tribe and who belongs to the reservation but who has for some time been employed on a ranch near Scottsdale. The crime was accompanied by a great deal of brutality. A warrant for the arrest of Pinson was sworn out before Justice Johnstone and Deputy Sheriff Davis left this morning for McDowell. He will return with his prisoner this evening.

IN THE CIVIL COURTS.

Attorney Brown Will Try to Get Even With Older.

Los Angeles, Oct. 3.—Luther G. Brown of this city, who is associate counsel in the defense of Ford at San Francisco, today filed a suit in the superior court for $50,000 damages for alleged libel, naming Fremont Older of the San Francisco Bulletin and two other associate owners of that paper.

The suit is based on an article in the Bulletin naming the plaintiff as one of a party that conspired to kidnap ex-Supervisor Loneragan, a witness for the prosecution in the Ford trial.

Brown's friends say this means the dismissal of the charge of criminal libel whereon Brown had Older arrested and kidnaped a few days ago.
